HELP FIREFIGHTERS GET LATHERED FOR CHARITY.

Langley firefighters are taking part in a National Car Wash on Saturday (13 September) for The Firefighters Charity (formerly the Fire Service National Benevolent Fund).

Red Watch Crew Manager Dave Piercy, said: "This is a national event and on Saturday firefighters all over the country will be staging car washes for the Firefighters Charity. The charity does a great job in providing rehabilitation and therapy for injured firefighters and also helps their families as well.

"Obviously this all costs money so this is our way of doing something to support a charity that is always there for firefighters. Members of the public have always been great in helping us raise money to assist injured colleagues and we hope that we will get plenty of support on Saturday."

Langley Fire Station is on the London Road and the Red Watch firefighters, together with families, friends and colleagues, will be very pleased to see you. They will be washing non-stop between 10am and 4pm and look forward to seeing lots of people turning up in dirty cars!
